Getting to know your fat

It's every woman's curse. Fat is definitely a fact of life from the time we reach puberty until the day we die. Throughout one's life, the level of body fat tends to increase, causing the appearance of unsightly bulges on the stomach, thighs and buttocks. Bad eating habits, a sedentary lifestyle and aging only make it worse. In women, fat is often the result of hormonal variations particularly acute during pregnancy and menopause.

When fat cells grow bigger at the hypodermic level, the subcutaneous connective tissue becomes compressed and hardened, making blood circulation more difficult. This leads to unnatural tensions on the dermis and epidermis, causing the skin to become bumpy, uneven and withered. In a day and age when women struggle to remain young, slim and seductive, fat is no doubt the number one enemy.

LPG has developed an innovative Cosmetic Therapy System to reshape the body and revitalize the skin. As part of this system, the patented LPG technique administered with the ESI massager affects the subcutaneous connective tissue in depth, promotes subcutaneous blood flow, and relieves tense and sore muscles. Treatments last 35 minutes and are given once or twice a week. The ESI boasts an unmatched design and technology that's been recognized worldwide. It works wonders on your body while letting you relax and unwind. Treatment intensity can be easily adjusted for every region treated.

The Endermowear® leotard, specially designed for Endermologie®, maximizes the effectiveness of each treatment and helps patients feel more comfortable.

Making the right choices

By reshaping the body, stimulating blood flow and revitalizing the skin, LPG's highly effective Endermologie® System can help you stay slim, healthy and young-looking. Of course, you can really maximize the results by paying more attention to your eating habits and level of fitness. As you know, without sound nutrition, fat tends to accumulate in the body and becomes increasingly difficult to eliminate, preventing proper blood circulation. Adequate blood flow is essential to a dynamic metabolism, a vigorous immune system and firm, glowing skin. That's why the Endermologie® Cosmetic Therapy System includes Endermogym®, a specific exercise program to tone and strengthen muscles, and a specific diet plan with a set of dietary supplements designed to cleanse the body, provide vitamins and minerals, energize and enhance weight loss.
